

Mobile Banking

We really have jumped onto mobile banking having we? It's now more common than online banking, around 40% of us use smartphones for our banking needs. It's really convenient, but you've got to think of your smartphone like your wallet.

If crims get hold of your mobile device, or account passwords, they're into your bank accounts. So let's take a few simple steps to make sure you're banking safely. This is not too hard.

Firstly, make sure your phone or tablet is locked, and you have a code to open it. Do go for unique passwords for your banking apps and keep them secret. Can I please tell you, your dog's name, your cat's name or your mum's maiden name is not really very clever. And would you please check your account statements on a regular basis, if anything is looking wrong, get in touch with your bank immediately.
